BUENOS AYRES, SATURDAY, DECEMBER 31, 1842.

[Established in 1826.

BUENOS AYRES.

Intelligence has been received from the Confederate Army to the 18th inst. At that date President Oribe, with several corps, was already in the Oriental territory, having crossed the Uruguay at the Salto Pass, and the remainder was immediately to follow. General Servando Gomez, with the advanced guard, had pushed forward to the Rio Negro. The local authorities of Salto and Paysandú had hastened to tender their submission to the legal Government. Nothing is known of Rivera's movements. President Oribe, on returning to his native land, had issued the following proclamation:—

ORIENTALS!—At the head of a powerful army, heroic for its valour and its virtues, I now tread the sacred soil of our afflicted country. I come to assert your rights, restore your institutions, to avenge your honour, and to bring you peace, happiness and prosperity.

ORIENTALS!—In the general body of the people I only behold friends faithful to the cause of liberty, glory and independence. Those of you who are unfortunately in the ranks of the ruthless anarchist and incendiary Rivera, I denounce him, and you will be graciously received on presenting yourselves to any of the forces or chiefs dependent on the army under my command.

INHABITANTS ALL OF THE REPUBLIC!—Indignantly reject the vile impostures which the partisans of the depraved, anti-American and their accomplices the insolent, miscreant unitarians and usurping faction, employ against this virtuous army and against me. Calumny unnecessarily issues from their impudent lips—that perfidious and dastardly weapon is the only one to which they can resort in the nullity and desperation to which they are reduced.

During the period of my administration, my respect for the laws was unbounded—you know it. My principles are still the same. The factious disorganisers have sought to turn to their advantage that very liberality which they have so much malign'd; they could then act so, by allying themselves with the unattractive and ferocious miscreant unitarians; but everything has changed. The anarchical and treacherous faction is in its last extremity—the ruthless unitarians have been crushed to the dust. The distinguished hero who presides over the destinies of our illustrious sister the Argentine Republic, has triumphed over all the enemies of order, liberty and independence; and I have come among you to restore to our dear and unfortunate country the enjoyment of its rights and prosperity, under the auspices of that immortal triumph, and with the co-operation of its faithful sons.

ORIENTALS! INHABITANTS ALL OF THE REPUBLIC!—My device is liberty, honour, dignity and peace: eternal hatred to the ruthless, ferocious tyrants. The soil which gives them birth expels them from its bosom, and America all should spurn them as unworthy of the name of Americans. Orientals! Flee from those monsters. All of you who sincerely love the country, hasten to place yourselves by the side of the defenders of your trampled laws, of your oppressed liberty, and of your betrayed independence. You will thus accelerate the termination of the evils which afflict you, and contribute towards the re-establishment in the Republic of order, peace and prosperity—the only aspiration of your fellow-countryman.

EMANUEL ORIBE.

It is now four years and two months since General Oribe was violently ejected from the Presidential chair by the rebel chieftain Rivera, through the instrumentality of the French agents, then in collision with the Argentine Government. That shameful act provoked at the time, a general burst of indignation from every impartial foreigner both here and abroad, and with their characteristic high-mindedness, none were louder in their denunciations than our own countrymen. Many strange events have since occurred, but none more surprising to our view than what are now witnessing—the exercise of a combined influence in order to consolidate the work of the French agents, and keep the usurper in the seat from which he is about to be hurled.

House of Representatives of the Province of Buenos Ayres.

The Gazette of 20th inst., contains the particulars of the proceedings, at its sittings of 2nd inst., when the project of a decree presented by the Committee of Finance relative to the claim of Mr. Thomas Lloyd Halsey, for arrearages furnished to the government was taken into consideration. This project was in tenor that the affair should be referred to the Executive, to take what measures it might deem convenient, which after some discussion was agreed to.

The discussion in the House of Representatives on the 15th and 16th inst., relative to the proposed mediation of France and England in the dispute with Rivera, was of so extensive a nature, that we are unable to give even a summary of the speeches delivered on the occasion. The full details were published in the Gazette of the 15th inst., occupying eight closely printed pages of that paper. The House were unanimous in their approval of the conduct which the Government had pursued in declining the mediation in question. The members who spoke were: Señores Balzomero Garcia, Garrizco, Manuel Triguero, Torres, Ximenes, Lahitte, Gonzalez Peña, Campana, Gaete, Saenz Peña, and Nicolas Anchorena. These gentlemen addressed the House at great length, avowing that peace for the Argentine Confederation is impossible whilst Rivera and the Unitarians have any influence in the destinies of the Oriental Republic of the Uruguay. The war was not against the Orientals but against those whose restless and treacherous had caused so much misery and desolation in this country, against men with whom no compact could be binding, and all guarantees unavailing, and that if France and England were aware of the real nature of the contest, which from distance they are not, they would decidedly have declined all interference. Rivera, an anarchist from his first entrance into political life, whose career throughout had been that of a traitor who had deceived all who had confided him—a rebel placed in his present seat of power by foreigners whose peace could there be with such a man. The only possible basis for peace would be the restoration of the legal authority in the Oriental State; and when the administration is in the hands of the Orientals, and of the Orientals alone, then the Argentine Confederation would have nothing more to claim. Mediation is offered at the very moment when the Argentine Confederation has the means of securing a lasting peace. What would the King of England, the Emperor Russia, and the other chiefs of the European coalition against Napoleon have said, after their conditions at Dresden and Leipzig, or after the crowning triumph at Waterloo, if the Republic of North America, for instance, had stepped in and offered mediation—Not! would have been the reply, we do not make war against France, but against the man who has for so many years disturbed the peace of Europe. When Napoleon was first Consul of France, he addressed a note to the British Government, soliciting peace, that peace which Europe so much needed. Lord Grenville, in his admirable reply, dated 4th January, 1800, after deploring the miseries which war must always occasion, said, that whilst France was the hot-bed of sedition and revolution, no one was safe, the independence of all nations was threatened, and that the British Government could not confide in any guarantee or promises which the then Government of France might offer, the most solemn treaties would only pave the way to fresh aggressions, and that confidence could not be restored, except by the re-establishment of the legitimate Government. This reply of Lord Grenville was applauded by all the civilized world, and time and events have proved the wisdom on which it was founded. The present Government of the Oriental State, was set up by treason and perfidy. Rivera who figures at its head has, during the 30 years of his political existence, been remarkable only as a vile revolutionist who has deceived all in turn, therefore, any stipulations with him must be useless and degrading. His history denotes that he can offer no guarantee, and public opinion in this province and in the others of the Confederation is so loud against him, that any treaty on the part of this country with him would cause a general conflagration in every part of the Republic, the indignation of the people would be such, as to set at defiance any exertion of the authority to restrain it, and it unfortunately might so occur, that the first burst would light on the very subjects of the Mediating Powers residing here. But it is not probable that such a state of things will ever come to pass. No peace can be made with Rivera. Peace constitutes the first necessity of States, policy, religion, justice, reason, and every moral objection demand it; no country needs this great blessing more than this. Providence has now placed in its hands the means of obtaining a lasting one—one that affords a solid guarantee—only convention with the Government of Rivera, could only be an armed truce in the most violent passions would be continually at work.

Allusion was made during the debate to those foreign residents in this country who, regardless of the privileges they enjoy, and exemption from burdens which press upon the native, yet indulge in the most hostile feeling against the Government under whose protection they reside.

The boisterous diversion of knocking at doors as a citation to the Misa de Gallo took place as heretofore on Christmas Eve, but the weather was so boisterous as the sport, therefore it was not carried on with the violence of other years.

Official Documents.

The Gazette of 15th inst., contains the congratulatory letter of the government of the Peruvian Republic dated Lima 7th July 1842, to that of Buenos Ayres on the Convention of Peace between France and the Argentine Confederation.

Also a note dated Tucuman 17th ult., from the government of that Province, to that of Buenos Ayres, congratulating the letter on the naval victory of the 16th August.

Tucuman, November 17, 1842.

The Governor of Tucuman,
To Admiral William Brown, Commander-in-Chief of the Squadron of the Argentine Confederation.

The undersigned feels infinite pleasure in addressing Y. E. for the first time, cordially to congratulate you and in your person the brave seaman under your command, on the splendid naval victory of the 16th August, in which our squadron guided by talent and valor destroyed the maritime power of a brave and insensate enemy who has embraced the infamous cause of the miscreant unitarians, enemies of God, of man, of our liberty and of the civilization of the world.

The Provinces of the Argentine Confederation, confiding in the integrity, skill and loyalty of Y. E. always expected from your genius and energy another of those glorious days in which with noble pride you was wont to announce to your Country that on the waters of the Plata it had no competitor; and this grateful expectation has been realized on the Costa Brava, giving to him who has so often evinced his patriotism by similar proofs, eternal glory.

The government of Tucuman wishes to have, as it now has, the satisfaction to send to Y. E. and to all your brave subalterns a federal embrace for the brilliant days of honor in which you take refuge; and if by this step it deviates from established forms, it is a sufficient excuse that the enthusiasm of Federal Patriots knows no bounds when Argentine glory is the theme. God preserve Y. E. many years.

Celedonio Gutierrez.
Adeodato de Godina.

THE UNDERTAKER.

BY THOMAS HOEK.

As a Neighbourhood it is to be shunned. To live opposite to him is to fall under the Evil Eye. Like the Witch that foreseeps other Cattle, he would rot you as soon as look at you if it could be done at a Glance; but that Magic being out of Dute, he contents himself with choosing the most Curiously, the best and that shall serve for a Hatchment. Thereforeward he watches your going out and your coming in; your rising up and your lying down, and all your Domestic Imports of Drink and Victual, so that the various and sundry things which you are not familiar with your Modes and Means of Living, nor knows so certainly whether the Visitor that calls daily in his Chariot is a mere Friend or a Physician. Also, he knows you Age to a Year, and your Height to a Inch, for he hath measured you with his eye for a Pall Fry. Wherefore, to dwell near him is as melancholy as to live in view of a Church-yard; but to be within Sound of his Hammerings is to hear the Knocking at Death's Door.

To be Friends with an Undertaker is as impossible as to be the Crony of a Crocodile. He is to be feared as a Hypocrite, and feels of Necessity Mental Reservations and Equivoques. Thus he drinks to your good Health, but hopes, secretly, it will not endure. He is glad to find you so hearty as to be Appetite; and rejoices to see you stout, with a show of Health. He bids you beware of your old Gout—and recommends a Quack Doctor. He laments the malignant Fever so prevalent—and wishes you may get it. He compliments your Complexion, when it is Blue or Yellow; admires your upright Carriage, and hopes it will break down. Wishes you Good Day, but means everlasting Night; and commends his Respects to your Father and Mother, but hopes you do not honour them. In short, his good Wishes are treacherous; his Inquiries are suspicious; his words are dangerous—as when he proffereth the Use of his Coach, or to see you home.

For the rest, he is still at odds with Humanity; at constant issue with its Naturalists, and its Philanthropists, its Sages, its Counsellors, and its Legislators. For example, he praises the Weather, when it is a Squall; and rejoices in a wet Spring and Fall, for Death and he reap with one Sickle, and have a good or bad Harvest in common. He objects not to Bones in Bread, (being as it were, his own Diet), nor to ill Dress, nor to a Supper of Bread and medicinal Finings in Wine, nor to Ardent Spirits, nor to Interment in Churches. Neither doth he discountenance the Sitting on Infants; the swallowing of Plum Stones; nor of Cold Leas at Hot Balls; nor the drinking of Embrocations; nay, he hath been known to content that of wrong Dose was the right one. He approves, contra the Physicians, of a damp Bed and wet Feet; of a hot Head and cold Extremities, and lead his own Countenance to the Natural Small Pox, rather than encourage Vaccination, which he calls a flying in the Face of Providence.* Add to these, a free Trade in Poisons, whereby the Oxalic Crystals may currently become Proxy for the Epsom ones; and the Corrosive Sublimates as common as Salt in Porridge. To the same End he would give unto every Cockney a privilege to shoot, within ten miles round London, without a Taxed License, and would never concur in a Fine or Doodand for Fast Driving, except the Vehicle were a Hearse. Thus, whatever the popular Cry, he runs counter; a Heretic in Opinion, and a Hypocrite in Practice, as when he pretends to be sorrowful at a Funeral; or, what is worse, affects to pity the ill-paid Pauper, and yet he is ready to cross steam down.

To conclude, he is a Personage of ill Usage to the House of Life; a Raven on the Chimney-pot; a Death-watch in the Wainscot; a Winding-sheet in the Candle. To meet with him is ominous. His Looks are sinister; his Dress is lugubrious; his Speech is prophetic; and his Touch is mortal. Nevertheless, he hath one Merit, and in this our World, and in these our Times, it is a main one; namely, that whatever he Untertakes he Performs.

The theatres have not presented any thing in the shape of novelty lately. The drama of "El Rey Monge" is advertised for this evening at the Argentine Theatre, in company of Señor Temetzo Posadas.

It is said that we are likely soon to have some musical performances at one of the theatres.

The House of Representatives will open tomorrow, with the usual ceremonies, and the annual message from the Government will be delivered.

The summer has hitherto been so cool that the bathing season can hardly be said to have commenced.

The funeral rites of the late Captains Antonio Retcheid and Gerald Fisher, and Lieut. Antonio Almazan, of the navy of the Argentine Confederation, were celebrated at the Church of La Merced on Saturday last. The attendance was numerous, and included Admiral Brown and several of his officers, the Captain of the Port, &c. &c.

A company of troops drawn up in front of the Church, fired a volley at the conclusion of the service.

A mouse ranging about a brewery, happening to fall into one of the vats of beer was in immediate danger of drowning, and appealed to a cat to help him out. The cat replied, it is a foolish request, for as soon as I get you out I shall eat you. The mouse piteously replied, that that fact would be set down to be drowned in beer. The cat lifted him out but the fumes of the beer caused pain to sneeze; the mouse took refuge in his hole. The cat called upon puss to come out.—"You recall did you not promise that I should eat you?" "Al! I replied the mouse, "but you know I was in liquor at the time!"

HARRIED.

On the 22nd inst., by the Rev. Wm. Brown, Captain AVGET EDWARD MOLLER, of the Hamburg brig "Johann Gottlieb," to Miss ROSA MENEDA ADELARDE BOEKIE, a native of Bremen.

Dr. James Murray's
TRUIC MAGNESIA.

ONE OF THE MOST IMPORTANT DISCOVERIES OF THE NINETEENTH CENTURY. It is a food supply of this invaluable medicine. The great fame which this excellent medicine has acquired in Great Britain and other countries, as the best and most successful over other Magnesia. In the form of pills and other important substances which generally exist in all other preparations of Magnesia.

In bilious affections, flatulency and acidity of the stomach it is far superior to the preparations of soda and potash.

As a mild, safe and gentle aperient, it is strongly recommended for delicate females, and especially adapted (being perfectly tasteless) for children whose bowels are constantly more or less affected with an accumulation of mucus.

To be had at E. Craxwell's, Calle de la Paz, No. 21. Sole Agent for the Republic. 413 5
