BUENOS AYRES.

By the last accounts from Montevideo, it appears that the negotiations between the French Agents and the Riverista Government had been broken off, the latter persisting in its refusal to disband the refractory Legionists. The Consul General, Mr. Pichon, has, in consequence, demanded his passports, and embarked with all the officers of the consulate and the party of marines which mounted guard at the custom-house. For several days previous the boats of Admiral Clerval's squadron had been busily engaged in taking off peaceable French citizens, a great number of whom have arrived here; others have gone to the Buceo, and many yet remain embarked. The Riverista Govt. having thus been declared an enemy of France, by the French agents, in pursuance of specific instructions from home, there can be no doubt but that measures will immediately be adopted in consonance with that declaration. In the mean time, in order to rally the drooping spirits of their Infatuated partisans, the Riverista rulers were publishing in rapid succession bulletins containing fictitious but glowing details respecting Rivera's operations. The fact is, that this leader had proceeded with all his forces to the department of Maldonado, in order, if possible, to place himself in contact with Fortmato Silva, who, it will be remembered, had been forced to take refuge in the Rio Grande territory; but at the date of the last advices, General Urquiza, the rapidity of whose march had hitherto been retarded by his infantry and artillery—having relieved his cavalry of these encumbrances to the celerity of its movements, was close upon his adversary, whose march seemed rather a precipitate flight.

Commodore Purvis has just been performing another of his gallant exploits in these waters. Defeated in his ridiculous attempt to set at naught the belligerent rights of the Argentine Confederation, which Her Majesty's Government had enjoined him scrupulously to respect, he has sought ignoble revenge by committing a scandalous aggression on the Oriental Territory, under the jurisdiction of the legal authority. Having met with a dignified determination in President Oribe not to allow himself to be coerced into a pusillanimous surrender of his invaluable rights, both as a Belligerent and as the First Magistrate of an independent State, the Commodore carried his overbearing insolence to the extreme of sending the Steamer Gorgon to the defenceless port of Maldonado, with orders forcibly to embark the hides mentioned in our last; which glaring act of injustice was punctually executed, despite the remonstrances and protests of the local authorities, and without even the tender of payment of the ordinary dues being made. Really such outrageous conduct would seem to warrant the belief that the head of this unfortunate man has been turned by his over zealous political partisanship. The late example of the Lynx at Cove shows indeed that the naval branch of Her Majesty's service is not exempt from the terrible influence of insanity; and as it is not presumable that its effects can always be so easily averted as on that occasion, we think Her Majesty's Government would not do amiss were they to direct their attention to the consideration of the expediency of vesting in their representatives abroad the power of issuing commissions of Lunatico inquirendo when unhappily such symptoms of mental aberration occur as are at present exhibited by the officer in command of Her Majesty's Naval forces on this station. A measure of this kind might save Her Majesty's Government many unpleasant reclamations, and pacific British subjects, sojourning abroad not a few heart burnings.

IRELAND—THE REPEAL ASSOCIATION

O'Connell is not yet silenced, neither is repeal dead. Both are more formidable than ever. Open air meetings have been prohibited, yet we cannot understand why the Government, having embarked on a coercive course, should permit the equally effective agitation of the Corn Exchange or the Conciliation Hall to go on with increasing fervour.

The Repeal Association does the work as well as the monster meetings. Its proceedings, reported by the press, give the word of command to attentive and obedient millions; and, so far as the language of the members, and the speeches of O'Connell, are promotive of dangerous consequences, it does not appear that they are less virulent and determined than before. The half measure of the Government has utterly failed. Ministers, to be consistent in their new course, must put down the Association, prohibit the meetings at the Corn Exchange, and arrest the leaders. Do they shrink from this? Then why did they prefer coercion to conciliation? Once embarked on a course of violence, they must proceed, until some high arbitrary coup d'etat, such as the suspension of the Habeas Corpus Act, or other unconstitutional measure, brings matters to a crisis.

To do O'Connell justice, he does not seem to abate one jot of his pretensions, or to lower his lofty tone in the least degree. His spirit does not seem at all broken by the Government proceedings, as the Tory organs said. He has given blow for blow. This week has brought the news of the opening of the Conciliation Hall for the accommodation of the increasing numbers of Repealers; the consideration of overtures from the Whigs to agree to a Federal Parliament for Ireland; the accession of Mr. O'Brien whose speeches in the House of Commons last session, on the subject of Irish grievances, were so temperate, so able, and so true; and the announcement of the largest weekly amount of repeal rent yet collected, (£2284.)

How far O'Connell may be sincere in his declaration, that he would reject the alliance of the Whig party, we cannot pretend to say. If we understand his meaning rightly, he has refused the assistance of the Chartists, if clogged with any conditions of a Federal Parliament, although he "is willing to give any guarantees that separation is not his object." How far Mr. Joseph Sturge's party may be disposed to abandon a Federal connexion will next be seen, but we are very sanguine that the Whigs would be able to conciliate Ireland upon lower terms than a dismemberment of the empire. The danger is that the Tories may remain in office long enough to embroil us irretrievably with the sister country and to embitter the feelings of the Irish to such a degree, that no measures short of a repeal of the Union will pacify them. If it be true that any authorized overtures have been made by the Whig party to concede a Federal Parliament, the present Union is virtually annulled. It would not endure for a single session, if attacked by one of the great English parties as well as by the people of Ireland; but we cannot bring ourselves to believe the assertion, because we have been informed upon good authority, that the Whigs are desirous of trying the effects of a conciliatory tone towards Ireland, and for that purpose intend to bring Lord Morpeth into Parliament immediately, to deal with those Irish questions which will no doubt form the principal subjects of its debates. O'Connell's words about the sort of Parliament which he wants are the same which he has used on all Irish questions—he will take what he can get. "First repeal the Act of Union," says he "and after that let us obtain the best Parliament that is feasible."

The bungling manner in which the Government has laid itself open to the charge of suborning perjury, through its informer, Mr. Bond Hughes, is a great stigma upon it, and even the very Times, in its wrath, seems to think nothing can be too stupid for such a set of imbeciles.

L'imp. Merc.

The opening of the twentieth legislature of the Province took place on the 1st inst., with the usual demonstrations—The guns at the Fort were fired, and also those of the National vessels of war in the inner roads; the town was also decorated with flags and music paraded the streets. The following are extracts from the most important portions of the Message of the Government—

MESSAGE

TO THE 20th LEGISLATURE.

Palermo de San Benito, December 27th 1843.

To the Honorable Representatives of the Province.

Messieurs Representatives—

I greet you on the installation of your Honorable House. Persevering but vain have been the crimes of the ruthless unitarians to deprive the Republic of this solemn moment. You are crowned with unfading glory, and you have acquired an immortal name. The Omnipotent, enlightening your sovereign councils, has given to you sublime virtues. The Confederation shines forth with splendid honor. Victorious and tranquil as regards the opinion of the civilized world, it heroically defends its liberty. An act of horrid perfidy and inhumanity and a series of aggravating complications have interposed to prevent the much wished for blessings of peace. The enemies of reason are responsible for the cruel results. Justice has prevailed over their sanguinary combinations, and your wisdom and energetic virtue, have paved the way to illustrious victories. There are events, which, outliving all remembrance, immortalize the name of the nation to which they belong. You have arrived to this happy day, and I humble myself with profound gratitude for the infinite favours of Divine Providence. I congratulate you, Honorable Representatives, filled with humble acknowledgement for the protection of the Almighty, I bow to your Sovereign will.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS.

The Argentine Confederacion, faithful to the principles of peace and strict neutrality in the domestic affairs of other States, draws closer the good understanding which subsists with friendly nations.

Commodore John Brett Purvis, Commander of the naval forces of H. B. Majesty, on the Eastern coast of South America, has taken part with the enemies of the Confederation, in Montevideo, and aids them in their efforts to triumph. He has caused enormous injury to the Republic. To his intimations so derogatory to the national sovereignty, he has added public insult to the Argentine flag. In contempt of the law of nations and the faith of treaties, he has fomented war and bloodshed, and occasioned an immense loss of property.

In the explanations which the Government promptly requested, and of which you are informed, it also demanded due satisfaction and reparation for such cruel outrages.

The positive and friendly assurances given here by the Minister of H. M., have been reiterated by the Court of London. I have submitted my conduct to your sovereign decision, and you have deigned to give it your unqualified approbation.

Although the Government of H. B. M. recognized the blockade of the port of Montevideo, this same British Commodore has recently added another insult, by disallowing it for the second time, on the plea that the legal President of the Oriental State had ordered the port of Maldonado to be closed.

This disagreeable event took place a few days after the British Minister had informed the Government, that as regarded the proceedings of the British Commodore at Montevideo, he had the orders of H. M.'s Government to state that such instructions had been forwarded to the Commander of her naval forces in the River Plate, as would insure due respect on their part, to the belligerent rights of the Argentine Republic.

The British Commodore, by this additional and singular proceeding, has aggravated anew the irritating acts by which he has invaded the universal regulatory principles of war and neutrality. He has attacked the territorial rights of the legal authority of the Oriental state of the Uruguay, and the belligerent of the Argentine Republic. He has subjected himself and the naval forces of H. B. M. under his command, to an immense responsibility as it regards themselves, America, and the civilized world. The Government views with profound concern the extraordinary and obstinate conduct of the British Naval Commander, so contrary to the friendly and worthy proceedings of the Minister of H. M. It confidently relies upon receiving the most ample satisfaction and reparation from the Cabinet of Great Britain. H. M. and friendly Governments will see in this sincerity and moderation, the most significant proof of a constant desire for peace. It is the bounden duty of the Government never to allow the sovereignty, liberty, honour, and dignity of the Confederation to be disgraced. It will opportunely give you an account of the result, and submit its conduct on this delicate affair to your sovereign decision.

The Government of Great Britain has deigned to communicate to that of the Republic the lamented death of H. R. H. the Duke of Sussex the beloved Uncle of H. M. Queen Victoria. The Confederation joined in condolence with H. M. The civil and military authorities wore the customary mourning.

It also announced the happy birth of a Princess, which Divine Providence had granted her. The Government congratulated H. M. thereon, with the most lively pleasure.

The infirm state of health of the Governor of the Province, has delayed the presentation of the Royal letter, in which H. M. announces the marriage of H. R. H. the Princess Augusta Caroline Elizabeth Maria Sophia Louisa, eldest daughter of H. R. H. the hereditary Grand Duke of Mecklenburg. The Government will feel infinite gratification in receiving this letter, and in offering to H. M. its cordial congratulations. The Government trusts that of H. B. M. will by an honorable act of justice, accelerate the moment when it will attend to the rights of the Republic, to the territory of the Falkland Islands.

The aggressions of Commodore Purvis have encouraged a portion of the French population in Montevideo, to take up arms against the Confederation. The Minister Plenipotentiary of H. M. the King of the French, near this Government, has in the most praiseworthy, explicit, and honorable manner, expressed his high reprobation of this proceeding. The Government has deeply deplored this extraordinary event. The urgent orders of H. M. have not yet succeeded in putting an end thereto. The Government feeling present evils, dreads the pernicious influence it must hereafter create. Intimately persuaded of the sound policy of H. M. it trusts it may be avoided by measures of foresight and justice.

It is pleasing to the Government to announce to you that H. M. the King of the French, has approved the conduct of his Minister Plenipotentiary to this Republic, relative to the acknowledgement of the blockade of the port of Montevideo.

Consequent upon this resolution, and the elevated policy which the Government of H. M. sustains, that of the Confederacion observes with pleasure, the honorable, pacific and neutral conduct of the agents of H. M., as the grateful result of the justice with which the Government of France is animated, in the war which the Republic carries on against Rivera.

H. M. has replied with great feeling to our condolence with him on the lamentable death of H. R. H. the Duke D'Orleans. The civil and military employés of the Confederacion, wore for two days the customary mourning.

A serious peril threatened the lives of H. M. the King, the Queen, the Duchess D'Orleans, and the Count de Paris. Divine Providence, propitious to France, has deigned to preserve them. The Government has sincerely congratulated H. M. on this happy event.

The Minister of H. M. the King of the French has presented the bases for the establishment of a line of Steam-packets, between Europe and America; the Government has with the most lively pleasure admitted them, on conditions which it deemed requisite to propose.

The Royal letter announcing the marriage of the Princess Clementina de Orleans, with the Prince of Saxe Cobourg Gotha, will be with pleasure received, as soon as the health of the Governor of the Province permits.

You have been informed that the illustrious Governments of H. B. M., and of H. M. the King of the French, rendering due justice to the Confederation, have approved of the replies of their Ministers Plenipotentiaries in this Republic, recognizing the blockade of the port of Montevideo. In this correspondence with their Ministers here, is expressed their respective reprehension of the conduct of Commodore Purvis.

The Republic of Bremen has ratified the acknowledgement of the Independence of the Confederation, which the Consul of Hamburg here, had made in the name of the Senate of that Republic.

The Government maintains its relations of fraternal friendship, with the American States. It respects their independence and observes the most strict neutrality in their political dissensions. It ardently desires that they may enjoy peace, both at home, and abroad. The Government trusts that the illustrious Cabinet of the United States of North America, will finally be convinced of the justice of our claims.

You have been informed, Honorable Representatives, of the correspondence which has taken place with the Brazilian Minister to this Republic, relative to the unwarrantable proceedings of the Minister resident in Montevideo, in regard to the disallowing of the blockade of that port, and the conduct which the Government was obliged to pursue, in order to preserve peace with the Empire and the dignity of the Republic. You have approved that conduct.

It is highly congratulatory to know that the Cabinet of Brazil, animated by a friendly and sincere policy, did not deny the just reclamations of the Argentine Minister, near H. M., after having disapproved of the conduct of its Ministers in this Republic and in Montevideo.

The Government has been highly gratified at the triumphs of the Imperial arms, in the Province of San Pedro, Rio Grande

—It sincerely hopes that the collusion of Rivera with the rebels, will not disturb the peace which the Empire so happily enjoys.

H. I. M. has deigned to announce the marriage of the Princess Francisca Carolina, his beloved sister, with H. R. H. the Prince of Joinville, son of H. M. the King of the French. The Government sincerely congratulated H. M. thereon.

Circumstances, of which the Representatives are well aware, have not permitted the Government to decide upon some affairs connected with its relations with the Republic of Chili, and have retarded the departure of the Argentine Minister. It will, as soon as possible, effect this object, with that feeling of fraternal benevolence, which it has ever evinced.

A horrid conspiracy, fomented by the atrocious designs of the enemy of America, disturbed the peace and happiness of Bolivia. The assassins have expiated their crime. The Government congratulated the illustrious President of that Republic on the special protection extended to it by Divine Providence.

That of Bolivia, animated by the most friendly sentiments towards this Country, has accredited a Chargé d'affaires, whom that of the Confederation has felt pleasure in recognizing. It is desirous of strengthening the good understanding established with that Republic, and to carry into effect the mission which has been announced.

The Oriental Republic of the Uruguay, has destroyed the humiliating predominance of an inhuman usurper. The legal authority has been re-established in the greater part of its territory, by the united exertions and intrepidity of Orientals and Argentines. The happy day approaches when by the disappearance of foreign interference, and of the remnants of the hordes of the American recreant, peace will be restored in the Republics of La Plata, and each will be enabled to consolidate its respective absolute and glorious independence.

INTERIOR.

Under this head the Message states that the Governments of the Provinces nobly sustain the sacred rights of the sovereignty of the Confederation, and of America, adding that the Government of Paraguay had solicited the acknowledgement of its independence, which that of the Confederation regretted it could not acquiesce in. This refusal was however manifested in a spirit of fraternal frankness, and it was offered as soon as the urgent affairs which now press upon the Government would permit, to send a confidential Agent to Paraguay to give the necessary explanations on this important subject, and that in the meantime, the Government, in testimony of its friendly disposition, and its lively desire for the prosperity of the people of Paraguay, feels pleasure in assuring them, that whatever opinions may be formed in that Country by the relation of the powerful motives which justify the determination taken by that of the Confederation, it will never have recourse to arms to disturb the peace and tranquility of Paraguay, which it most cordially esteems, and in whose prosperity it takes the most profound interest.

Corrientes is mentioned as suffering under the barbarism of a horde of Unitarians, but that the Government is making preparations to rescue and restore it to that liberty, which is enjoyed by the other Provinces of the Republic.

HOME AND WAR DEPARTMENTS.

Under these heads, the Message enters into a variety of local details.

FINANCE.

The English Loan is thus mentioned:—The arrangement as it regards the loan from England, to which the Government is solemnly pledged, is still pending. The Government will not lose sight of it. The insuperable circumstances which have retarded it, are well known. It ardently desires the opportunity of realizing it, in a
