ARGENTINE NEWS.

(No. 1141.)

BUENOS AYRES, SATURDAY, JULY 8th, 1848.

(Established in 1826.)

BUENOS AYRES.

We have received regular files of London papers to the 4th of May.

In England things were quiet, notwithstanding that a new agitation had been got up, headed by Cobden, Hume and other members of Parliament, for the purpose of obtaining household suffrage, vote by ballot and triennial parliaments.

Ireland was still disturbed, though the apprehension of rebellion was becoming every day less serious. In Limerick the Old Ireland party were prevented from wreaking their vengeance on the Young Irelanders by the intervention of the military and police.

The elections in France had taken place, but not without considerable disturbance and bloodshed in the provinces. The provisional administration were to resign their trust to the National Assembly convoked to meet on the 4th of May. It was expected that M. Lamartine would be placed at the head of the permanent Government.

The news from Italy was unfavourable to the Sardinian army. The Austrians were recovering many of their losses.

On the 21st of April a second action was fought between the Danes and Germans near Altenhof, in which the latter were as completely beaten as on the first occasion. The victors, however, were attacked on the next day by Prince Radziwill at the head of a division of Prussian, Hanoverian and Oldenburg troops and driven from position to position till they shut themselves up in Schleswig, from which they were finally expelled after a desperate resistance and great carnage.

The King of Naples had been deposed by the Sicilian parliament, but his people appeared determined to assist him in recovering that portion of his dominions.

A republican movement had taken place in the grand duchy of Baden, but had been easily put down.

H. M.'s steamer Gorgon arrived at Rio Janeiro on the night of 21st June, bringing news from London to the 17th May. She left England May 13th but got the latest dates from a West India steamer which arrived at Madeira, during her stay there. She comes to Montevideo on her way to the Pacific to relieve the Sampson.

FRANCE.

(From the Times May 17th, 1848.)

THE NATIONAL ASSEMBLY.

Paris, May 15.

From the Times Reporter.

In answer to M. d'Aragnon requesting an explanation of the projects of the Government towards Italy—

M. Bastide, the Minister of Foreign Affairs, replied, that he would explain in a few words the principles of the Government. They were those already developed by M. Lamartine in the declaration he had published a few days after the Revolution. France had proclaimed the sovereignty of the people, not for herself alone, and she recognized the right of all nations to govern themselves as they pleased; any people, accordingly, who had asserted their independence, could rely on the support of France. The new Government remembered that war had for its effect, after the first Revolution, to place a soldier on the throne of France. Italy had not demanded the intervention of the Republic. The treaties of 1815 had ceased to exist, and the time, he believed, was not far distant when a Congress of Nations would meet to regulate their mutual relations.

During a discussion of the affairs of Poland, the people forced their way into the Assembly, demanding war against all nations that did not recognize the independence of Poland, which being refused, they took possession of the seats and proceeded to such violence that the President M. Buchez vacated the chair and the representatives retired. M. Hubert mounting the tribune proclaimed the dissolution of the National Assembly. They were establishing a new provisional Government at the Hotel de Ville, consisting of M. Barbés, Albert, Louis Blanc &c., when the National Guards who had been betrayed by General Courtais, proceeded to the support of the National Assembly, and drove the mob from the Hall, where they had just decreed the first forced impost of a thousand millions of francs (£40,000,000) on the rich for the direct benefit of the poor, mere instalment, no doubt of the debt due to the ouvriers.

Order was at last restored, many of the ring-leaders arrested and patrols established during the night—10,000 additional troops of the line are in Paris—Colonel Clement Thomas (formerly Editor of the National) is named General in Chief of the Paris National Guard, in the room of General Courtais.

The Executive Government have just issued a decree for retaining the National Guards under arms until all the guilty in the late attempt shall be in the hands of justice.

It is announced that MM. Courtais, Barbés, Blanquin, Sobried, Huber, and Raspail are arrested.

M. Louis Blanc entered the Hall, pale, his features distorted and clothes torn, and swore by all that was most sacred, that he was perfectly unconnected with all that had passed: that he never had been an advocate for violence, and he protested his respect for the Assembly.

The trial of Mr. W. S. O'Brien and Co. for sedition took place in Dublin on the 15th May at a quarter past 7. The Jury entered the Court and said that there was no likelihood of an agreement. The Court adjourned to 9 o'clock.

BRITISH MEDICAL DISPENSARY.

Pursuant to public notice a general meeting of the subscribers to the British Medical Dispensary was held in the School Rooms attached to the British Episcopal Church on Monday the 13th June 1848.

R. B. Hughes Esq. was requested to take the Chair and the following reports were read:

Report of the Committee of the British Medical Dispensary for the year 1847—S.

Having completed their term of office, it becomes the duty of the Committee to whom was confided the management of the British Medical Dispensary for the past year to make their Report to the Subscribers, at their General Meeting, of the state of the Institution whilst under their direction.

Four years have now elapsed since, at a numerous meeting of British residents, it was resolved by an almost unanimous vote, that an asylum should be opened for those of our poor fellow-countrymen and fellow-subjects who, being overtaken by sickness, should be unable to procure medical and other assistance in their hour of affliction.

The experiment which was then entered upon with so much Christian benevolence has had a fair trial; and has completely fulfilled the expectations of those who suggested it, having been the means of affording succour and comfort to a very considerable number of necessitous afflicted persons, who, without its aid, would have been reduced to a state of great suffering and distress. No less a number than 333 of our poor countrymen have experienced the benefit of this Institution during the last 4 years. It cannot be doubted that the blessing of God has prospered the charitable work, for whilst so great an amount of human misery has been alleviated or removed, the contributions to the Hospital have, up to the last year, proved adequate to the expenditure. When it is considered that the greater portion of the time during which the Institution has been in existence was a period of unexampled commercial depression and suffering, this fact of the general sufficiency of the income is a gratifying proof, that a conviction of the utility, not to say necessity, of such an Institution is entertained by the great body of the British Residents in this city, and affords reason to hope that now that brighter days are beginning to dawn upon our fortunes, the means will be forthcoming not only to maintain the Institution in its present state of efficiency, but also materially to increase its means of doing good.

With such acknowledgements of the support which the Hospital has received from all classes of the British Community during its 4 years existence, and hopeful anticipations of its future success, the Committee lay before the Meeting a detailed account of their proceedings during the past year, and of the present state of the Institution.

It will be remembered that at the last general Meeting it was unanimously resolved that in consequence of the unhealthy situation and high rent of the House then occupied as the Hospital, it was highly desirable to remove to more suitable premises, and the Committee then appointed were empowered to take such steps as they might deem advisable for that purpose. In conformity with these instructions the Committee made enquiry in all directions, and at length succeeded in finding a house which they considered very eligible, situated at the junction of the streets Uruguay and Temple in a very open and healthy situation. Negotiations were entered into for the purchase of these premises, and they were at length bought for 45,000$. Not having in their possession sufficient funds for the purpose, the Committee raised on loan the sum of 39,510$ leaving the balance to be paid out of the subscriptions for the year. Of the sum thus raised 10,935$ [or £100 sterling] was lent by the Rev. Barton Lodge, who, with the generosity and zeal for the interests of the British Medical Dispensary which always distinguished him, offered that sum for 3 years free of interest. The property is held by Daniel Gowland Esq. in trust for the Committee.

An annual saving of 2908$ has been effected by the removal of the Hospital in the manner above alluded to, being the difference between the sum hitherto paid for rent, and that now paid for interest on the loan.

The sum of 7638$ has been expended on the most necessary repairs, and it is estimated that it would require a further sum of about 10,000$ to give the building that completeness in all its arrangements internal and external which is so desirable for an Institution of the kind.

The superior advantages in point of situation and convenience which the present building possesses to that which was formerly used as the Hospital, are too obvious to require comment.

Before dismissing this part of the subject, the Committee earnestly recommend that at the earliest suitable period an urgent application be made to

H. B. M's Government for assistance in paying off the debt incurred for the purchase of the Hospital, and in defraying its annual expenses. It is not to be supposed that H. M's Government would refuse to comply with an appeal founded on 6 Geo. 4 Cap. 37, since in conformity with that act they have accorded assistance in similar cases to British Residents in other countries.

Seventy-two patients have experienced the benefits of the institution during the past year; of whom were admitted twice 4, discharged cured 50, died 10, remain in the Hospital 12, including the three old pensioners and one man employed as servant.

The Income for the past year amounted to $23,284 and the ordinary expenditure to $20,508. Of the former sum $1,400 has been received from patients, and it is hoped that a much larger amount will yet be forthcoming from that source.

The Committee regret to have to report that there is a balance due to the Treasurer of $5,219 6 on the years' account; also that the arrears of last year amounting to $9334 still exist, and that Dr. Mackenna's salary and the apothecary's bill for the past year are yet unpaid. The liabilities therefore amount altogether to $23,060. But it is a subject of congratulation that notwithstanding the commercial depression the subscriptions for the past year have not fallen short of the sums raised in preceding years. This fact leads the Committee to trust with confidence that, as the raising of the blockade gives reason to hope prosperity will now return, the Subscribers will increase their exertions to free the Institution from debt and promote its complete efficiency.

The Committee bear willing testimony to the great zeal and diligent attention of Dr. Mackenna to whom they consider the Hospital much indebted for the great interest which he takes in its welfare. Drs. Furst and Saxild have on several occasions given their valuable assistance in a very kind and ready manner.

The Matron by her prudent and economical management has given great satisfaction.

In concluding their report the Committee trust that the measures they have adopted for the welfare of the Hospital will meet with the approbation of the Subscribers; and it is their earnest and confident hope that God's blessing will continue to attend an Institution which has for its sole object the alleviation of human suffering and which therefore deserves the warm sympathy and active exertion of every British Resident.

Buenos Ayres, 28th June 1848.

GEORGE LORD,

Acting President.

Doctor Mackenna presented his report for the year of which the following is a condensation—

After stating the number of admissions he gives the particulars of the various diseases for which the patients sought relief. There were 8 cases of gastric fever; 3 of lockjaw, of which one died; 7 of rheumatism; 3 of inflammation of the lungs; 1 of inflammation of the bowels; 1 of inflammation of the eyes; 1 of protrusion of the globe of the eye; 2 of delirium tremens; 4 of consumption of the lungs, 3 of which died; 1 of hypertrophy and ossification of the heart, which died; 1 of abscess of the liver; 5 of dysentery, one of which died; 1 of disease of the kidney; 2 of asthma; 1 of mania; of surgical cases there were 1 of fracture of the knee-pan; 1 of head of the thigh bone, which died; 4 of ulcerated lips; 1 of gangrene of the hand; 1 of rupture of the liver and intestines [from being run over by a cart], which died; 1 of disease of hip joint, which died—and several other surgical diseases unnecessary to specify.

The average of the deaths was 1 in 7—a very large proportion. Some of these cases were in the Hospital only a few hours when they died; while others, whose extreme destitution rendered it impossible to deny them, were received when their recovery was quite hopeless. And it is a happiness continues the Report to think that an asylum such as this was open to them where they might end their days in peace and with some attention to their dying wants, both moral and physical, rather than in the state of shocking abandonment to which their own dissipation, it is greatly to be feared, had reduced them. Dr. Mackenna then adds with great pain to the depravity and drunkenness in the very depths of which a large portion of the labouring class of the British population in this city is sunk. In proof of which he refers to an analysis of the deaths which have occurred in the Hospital this year. Of the 10 who have deceased, seven were drunkards, no less than 70 per cent! Of these the 1st, while actually drunk fell from his cart, which passed over his body crushing and tearing his intestines; he was brought into the Hospital and died in a few hours. The 2nd and 3rd closed long lives of drunkenness, one with a consumption of the lungs; the 3rd died from a fracture of the head of the thigh bone by a fall while drunk, and the last from chronic dysentery. The 5th of consumption while yet young. The 6th of a vesical disease which he continued to exasperate to the utmost by constant drunkenness and which must have entailed on him a long life of extraordinary suffering. The 7th was the saddest victim on this melancholy list, a young man in the prime of life, and, as a farm servant, one of the steadiest and choicest who ever came to this country—he suddenly took to drinking, received a kick in the shin from a horse, which he neglected, took lockjaw, and perished miserably.

It is worthy of remark that the 3 remaining of the 10 who died, were sober men but utterly incurable long before they entered the Hospital—One was a case of immense enlargement and ossification of the heart, a very young man; the 2nd, a case of ulceration of the hip joint and the bones adjacent—and the 3rd of consumption, a poor little Bengal Lascar, whose small and delicate frame seemed to be shrivelled up by the cold and hardships of his last voyage.

By far the commonest diseases are of an inflammatory character, arising from changes of climate, namely, gastric fever in summer, and rheumatism in winter.

A considerable number of interesting cases presented themselves last year—amongst them was a fracture of the knee pan in a young Irishman which had the rare good fortune to unite firmly so as to give a perfect motion to the limb. One man who will be shortly discharged from the Hospital after a residence of 7 or 8 months has been incapable of gaining his bread or of moving unless on horseback for 12 years from disease in his legs. A British subject from the Mauritius was cured of a deep abscess in the liver by an operation in his side which evacuated a large quantity of foetid matter. A case, also, of inflammation of the globe of the eye which swelled so as to protrude it completely from the socket, recovered. The first successful application of ether in operations in this city was in our Hospital. We there verified the astonishing fact that the inhalation through the mouth and nostrils of this subtle spirit produces an insensibility in which the severest surgical operation can be performed without pain! Since then it has been used several times with success, and latterly the newer discovery called chloroform has been applied in the case of a female patient whose thigh was re-broken and re-set without pain and with the happiest results. This latter spirit is a great improvement on the other in the convenience, quickness, certainty, and I believe safety of the operation.

The removal of the Establishment to the new premises has been a vast improvement, the site is one of the most salubrious that could be chosen and the aspect of the house to the north renders it always perfectly dry. Means have been taken by opening a new window to make the ventilation of the wards complete, they are therefore cool in summer and free at all times from impure air, and the little garden in the front gives the patients the means of taking the necessary exercise. Altogether the plan is excellent and it requires only your active patronage to make it all that it should be, for the reception of the sick poor.

In conclusion, remarks the Doctor I heartily trust that this excellent Institution may endure as a lasting evidence that those sacred obligations which have been so carefully impressed upon us at home, lose nothing of their force with us in a foreign land—and that in the keen, and it is to be hoped, successful strife for individual advancement, we have still time and heart to sympathise in, and soothe the lot of our less fortunate fellow subjects.

The highest price of Doublers during the week 341 dollars.

The lowest price 330 dollars.
The highest rate of Exchange upon England during the week, as above.

The lowest do.
The difference we have to record in the prices of produce is but small; there is, nevertheless, a tendency to a decline in the prices of tallow. The articles most in demand are hides for Spain, ordinary, washed wool, washed sheep skins and horse hair.
